Connection of the Indo-European languages on the timeline according to eLinguistics.net (Version 2)

- Balto-Slavic
- Germanic
- Romance
- Subtilic
- Celtic
- Iranian
- Indo-Aryan
- Anatolian
- Armenian

Remarks:
- * Ancient languages marked with an asterisk are positioned in the tree at the historically known dates. Years are being counted from their position in the time axis.
-  PIE = Proto Indo-European

Very important notice!!!
This classification in the timeline is experimental and is the result of the fully automated analysis of relationships between languages on the basis of 18 words only. Whereas it has an interesting value as an experiment, it cannot be used as a reference for the representation of the historical evolution of Indo-European languages: among experts, the consensus about the split order and dates of the Indo-European subfamilies is presently still very limited.
